VOL. 10, NO. 297 MONESSEN, PA., TUESDAY MAY 21. 1912 SIX CENTS THE WEEK

A FAREWELL BANQUET AT FORT PITT

Mr. and Mrs. George Nash and two daughters, Elizabeth and Emily left last evening for Pittsburgh on their journey abroad. They stopped at the Fort Pitt hotel until their train over the Pennsylvania departed, at the hour of 9:40.

Many friends visited the family before they started on their long journey and they were many times over wished a safe and pleasant journey. Mr. Nash was tendered a farewell dinner in a private diring room at the hotel. The plans were made by Messers C. J. Mogan and D. P. King of the local mill and nearly a score of Mr. Nash's close friends left on the 4:08 train for Pittsburgh. Arriving at the Fort Pitt they found a six course dinner spread upon a well decorated table in a private dining room Mr. Nash knew nothing of the arrangements and when he was ushered into the presence of the guests at a preliminary reception he was competely taken by surprise. He looked at the floor for a moment, then at the ceiling and then gazed into the beaming countenance of the stalwart man beside him, Mr. C. J. Mogan and gracefully bowed to the inevitable while he received instructions for the remainder of the evening until train time. He was advised that a car had been chartered and the crowd intended to see himself and family safely launched on the ship at New York. Even at that extreme possibility he seemed pleased.

The party was then escorted to the dining room where the many good things were in waiting. Mr. Nash was seated at the head of the table and Mr. Mogan on one side and Mr. King on the other and as the guests seated themselves there was assurance expressed silently on every countenance that the program would be highly pleasing and satisfactory. Mr. Mogan was the toast master. He made a good one. He managed his part in such a manner as to make every guest breathe the spirit of the occasion. Mr. Nash for the time forgot that he was soon to start on a journey exceedingly long during which the great waters would divide him from his friends He was among his friends then, and he forgot all else and entered into the spirit of the occasion.

After the many good things had been stowed away the toastmaster called on a number of the guests for remarks

Mr. Nash made a touching response to the many kind things that had been said and in concluding thanked his friends for the deep interest they manifested in himself and family assuring all that he hoped to be back in a few weeks much benefited by the rest and experience.

They expect to leave New York this evening, sailing first for Wales from where they will visit many foreign cities and countries. Those who were present last night were:

C. J. Mogan, D. P. King, R. E. Brock, J. D. Adams. George Stahlnecker, Axel Allison, August Johnson, James Robertson, Robert McIlvried, George Sherwin, R. W. Anderson, Fred Link, W. H. Wagoner, H. F. N. Gerwig, William Selkirk and H. R. Pore.

EXPANSION COMMITTEE HAS BEEN NAMED

President E. C. Sattley of the Board of Trade this morning made public his selection of the committee suggested at the last meeting to investigate the advisability of extending the city limits and looking into the relative sectional advantages of the various districts proposed to be annexed. The names was appointed by Mr. Sattley are C. R. New, Wm. Herron, L. X. Ely, J. A. Lohman and A. W. Johns.

In our report of Friday nights meeting it was erroneously stated that five drinking founts are to be installed, where two was the number decided upon.

Says "Kissing's in the Love Game"

Homer Roadneaver, Billy Sunday's choir leader, denies that he ever promised to marry Miss Georgia Day, who has sued him for $ 0,000 for breach of contract. He says tha if he kissed the girl it was only "in the game of love." Again he says: "The liberties I took of kissing Miss Day were no other than any young man in love would take. That's part of the game and I meant no harm." He blames her mother for urging her to bring the action.

Mrs. Alice E. McKenney of Schoonmaker avenue was calling on acquaintances in Gibsonton last evening.

Miss Alfretta Soles of Belle Vernon is spending the week, a guest of Miss Elizabeth Jones of McMahan avenue.

Tonight is the big noise, newsboys The Daily Independent will take you to the Olympic theatre tonight to see Noodles and the rest of the bill. Manager Sotus will have special seats for the boys. After the show the newsboy carnival will be held on the stage. The games are warble bug, rapid fire, monkedoo, sparrow, umph gluck, newsboy yelling, boxing wrestling, singing and eight other contests. The whole audience will be invited to remain and see the fun. This will be the big laugh feast of the season, so be there. Newsboys will meet at The Independent office at 7 o'clock and will march to the theatre in a body, headed by Noodles. This all takes place at the first show.

"Noodles" addresses on an average of three million children a year. He is a great lover of children. His indorsements from Judge Ben Lindsey of the Juvenile court of Denver, President Taft and scores of noted educators for his grand work in behalf of the poor children of this country, would make a large sized book.

"I think that the American boys progress is one of the most wonderful things of this generation," said "Noodles" to a Independent reporter today. "For instance, look at the excellent opportunities for education. Look what the big cities are doing for their welfare, play grounds and the health of the poor little city child. Years ago it was a deplorable sight to walk down Ghetto district and see the swarming thousands of children playing in the dark, ill-smeling alleys, courts and packed into the dark corners of the tenement houses. Then you could leave New York and go to other cities, such as Pittsburgh, Cleveland and other leading cities, go

M. E'S DOWN PRESBYS IN THE INITIAL GAME

Playing erratic ball the whole game spelled defeat last night for the Presbyterian's in their game with the Methodist's at Page park. Both teams started out well but errors kept the Presbyterians on their uppers all the time and finally resulted in the paving of the way for three of the M. E's. scores.

In the fourth inning Shupe for the Presbyterians slapped one of Johnson's benders along left field foul line for two bases, Underwood followed with a long drive to middle scoring Shupe, Underwood going to third on the throw in and scoring on an infield out. In the seventh with Hancock on third and Lane on second and a hit needed to tie the score, Johnson struck out the batter after he had two strikes and three balls. For the M. E's., Derby reached first base in the fourth on an error and went all the way around on "donations." In the fifth R. Johnson doubled to left followed by Johnny Gibson's marathon drive to middle, Gibson scoring on a passed ball. A. Johnson reached first on an infield tap and scored a moment later on errors.

Underwood pitched good ball but was not given strong enough support. In Johnson the Methodist's have a pitcher that will make the teams hustle to win. Tonight's game will be between the Lutheran's and the Methodist's. The score:

Monessen still is possessed of one nuisance which should be relegated to the category of the unknown or has-beens. The practice of the lower class or more illiterate or uncultured foreigners who inhabit back alley flats and the older shacks built, when the town was first started, on the rear of lots, laying in on Saturday a stock of three or four kegs or cases of beer and a goodly stock of the stronger liquors to be used as mixers, and then on Sunday keeping up an un-godly hellabalew, drinking, dancing or jumping straight up and down, and letting out yips, yaps and yells, and chanting or tattooing after a heathenish or cannibalistic style—calling it singing—much to the annoyance and discomfort of quiet, peaceable citizens. There are several bunches of this sort quartered in the valley between Donner and Schoonmaker, runing from Fifth street to the Star theatre, and the Sabbath day is made almost unbearable.

Should a family of Americans start a disturbance of this nature, Sunday or on Sunday, it would be no time until it would be reported and a cordon of police sent out to look it up and insist on order and quit. Years ago when the town was new and had not settled down to a normal condition, and all sorts of people were drifting in to begin homes and business, there could possibly be some excuses for a limited amount of roughness or crudeness, but after twelve years the rougher element should be shorn of its crudities, the knots and bumps smoothed off as it were, and the town as a whole settled down to quiet, peaceable citizenship. Our worthy Burgess some time ago shut-down the lid tight on the wholesale use of intoxicants and undue demonstrations at weddings and christenings, and it had its effect—for good. Now he should go one step further and extend the ruling to embrace private households or "batches of men," and prohibit Sabbath desecration disturbance in quiet, peaceable coummunities, and all-night dances and brawls, such as is frequently indulged in, when the populace for two squares around are hindered from their rest and slumber. We realize that it takes time to regulate all things in a growing town, but surely twelve years should be long enough to teach any people or any number of classes of people what is right and what is wrong If not, then the law should be enforce regidly.

Charleroi once had a candidate for grand exalted ruler of the Order Elks, then a candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania, and now she has the proud distinction of having a candidate for President of the United States. The person seeking that distinction now is none other than the redoubtable Edward Callaghan, who has for years figured—more or less—in politics. Just now he has a suit pending against Washington county to recover $35,000 which he alleges is due him as damages because he was nominated for sheriff and not elected. Edward's chances of reaching the presidential chair are good—just as good as are his chandes of getting that thirty five thousand. Surely Charleroi gets all the honors going. But then she gladly looks to Monessen for the real substantial things of the day—for instance people to make their crowds of respectable size on circus day and help swell the receipts to profitable proportions, and then again to get transportation accommodations to and from the great ball games in the city—quick and cheap. Oh, it's surely nice and sometimes handy to have good neighbors. Honors are alright some times, but many times the real thing is better.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a pamphlet suggesting the use of the English sparrow as an article of food. Nothing so terrible about it, either. Lots of persons have paid big prices for them when served as reed birds, and we've heard of people using them for pigeon potpie right in Monessen.

A Boston doctor would like to go without clothing, but says if he did he would lose his practice and be ostracized by society. Aside from that, however he wouldn't be able to complain about any inattention on the part of the police.

Some of our contemporaries are positive Taft will win, and that Roosevelt cannot; others are just as certain Roosevelt will win and that Taft cannot. There is no doubt about what ought to happen, but all the prophets don't know, of course.

Why is it that when some men succeed in staving off a creditor they have a feeling of having setted the account for good?

When Spring Comes

"Well, it's beginnin' to look a little like spring, ain't it?" ventured the groceryman as he tramped a muddy path across the kitchen floor and began dumping the supplies on the table. "I ain't seen no robin yet, like some of these guys that's writin' to the papers, but I kin sort o' feel it in my bones. Spring fever, I guess, huh?"

The pretty cook smiled disdainfully as she brought out the mop and started to clean up her floor.

"That's a good name to call it, I suppose," she said. "I know when my brothers back on the farm got so lazy they couldn't do anything but go fishing they used to talk about spring fever. But my poor old father had to do all the chores—he was too busy to have spring fever."

"That's the way—jump on me," said the groceryman mournfully. "Just when I thought prob'ly you'd get a little bit sentimental about the comin' of spring and matin' of birds and—and all that. Don't you never feel that way in the spring, Evelina? You know—like you ought to have a strong arm to lean on?"

"Any time I want a strong arm to lean on I know where to find one," retorted the pretty cook. "If you don't want to feel a strong arm yourself you'll go along out of this kitchen and let me get my work done."

The groceryman sighed and moved slowly as far as the door with his box under his arm, but he kept his gaze on the pretty cook.

"I wisht I could think up some way of makin' you feel the way I do," he said gloomily, "so's you wouldn't hand me a bump like that every time I try to talk about somethin' besides groceries. I should think you'd want to look ahead a little bit and sort o' think where you'll be five years from now. Let's figger a little, Evelina, won't you?" he added, anxiously.

The pretty cook jerked the kettle off the stove and poised it menacingly, but the stream splashed into the dishpan a moment later, and the groceryman breathed more freely.

"If that's the way spring fever makes you talk,' she said, "you'd better go and see a doctor and get it out of your system. I'm too busy to do any figuring this morning, and that wagon load of groceries you've got out there in the street will get wilted if you don't hurry along with 'em. What are you waiting for, anyhow? We pay our grocery bill by the week, you know."

"I know," said the groceryman, edging slowly toward the door. "I ain't worryin' none about your bill. If you folks was to fall a little behind and the boss should mention it to me, Evelina, I'd just pay it myself on account of you, rather than say anything to your missus. Honest, I'd settle it up and work it all out if it took me six months. That's the kind of friend I am."

"What do I care?" said the maid, scornfully. "I shouldn't be surprised if it took you six months to earn what our grocery bill is every week—the prices that man you're working for is charging nowadays."

"Aw, now, I didn't expect you to get into the knockers' club about the prices,' protested the groceryman. "I've told you half a dozen times that we don't get the money! It's them farmers that's gettin' it all. Haven't you been readin' about 'em ridin' around in automobiles and havin' telephones from the house to the barn to give the hired man orders, and all that? Us folks are payin' for that swell business, and it's the poor grocer who gets the blame. That's just what I was thinkin' when it felt so balmy and springlike today—if I only had a nice little place in the country, with a few pigs an' calves—"

"You'd feel right at home, wouldn't you?" snapped the pretty cook. "That's where you'd shine. The pigs wouldn't mind how much you loafed—they're used to it, from al I've seen of pigs. And the calves wouldn't care how much noise you made—you could stand around and talk to them all day and not bother 'em a bit. But folks happen to have work to do, and if you get in their way you're likely to get into trouble."

The groceryman sighed again and slowly edged his way out to the back porch. But still he hesitated.

"I can't understand it," he mused aloud. "Now, to look at you, Evelina, anybody would think you was a real sentimental girl that would sympathize with a feller when he's feelin'—"

With a deft move the pretty cook stepped behind the door and closed it on the sentimental groceryman.—Chicago Daily News.

Candid Friend—If you had asked me for the loan in a candid and straightforward manner I would have lent you the money, but asking me in the way you did causes me to distrust you.

"I don't understand you."

"You asked me to be so kind as to lend you $5."

"Yes."

"If you had been candid you would have said to me: 'Be so stupid, be such an ignominious ass, such a hopeless idiot as to lend me $5, and you might have got it.'"

THREE YEARS OF MISERY

Mrs. Burnside Escaped an Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"For three years I suffered untold misery every month, and had to stay in bed the first two or three days. I also had a displacement and other ailments peculiar to women. I became so weak and run down I could scarcely walk across the floor.

"The doctor told me I would never be well unless I would undergo an operation, but I was advised by my mother to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after I had taken four bottles I am strong and well. I have got others to take your medicine with the same good results and they cannot say enough for it."—Mrs. J. A. BURNSIDE, Mahoningtown, Pa.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

THE GOLDEN AGE AT HAND.

Scriptural Evidences That Are Astonishing—No One Can Afford to Be Without the Knowledge.

We do our friends a valuable service when we call their attention to the valuable book entitled, "THE TIME IS AT HAND," in which are given many Scriptural evidences to prove where we are on the stream of time.

"Men's hearts are failing them for fear" and many of the leading thinkers are proposing remedies to better conditions. The Scriptures assure us that man's extremity will be God's opportunity, and this book holds out an anchor to those who fear the wave of unrest now spreading over the world.

The honest heart confesses that it is at a loss for an explanation of transpiring events. While we refer to this as the BRAIN AGE and the Age of ENLIGHTENMENT, nevertheless many realize that we are fast approaching a crisis which is wrapped in darkness owing to the present world-wide social, religious and political unrest.

As though by instinct the whole creation, while it groans and travails in pain together, waits for, longs for and hopes for the DAY, calling it the "GOLDEN AGE"; yet men grope blindly because not aware of the great Jehovah's gracious purposes. And to his wondering creatures, looking at the length and breadth, the height and depth of the love of God, surpassing all expectation, He explains: "My thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord; for as the heavens are higher than the earth so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts." Isa. 55:8, 9.

Luck of a Windfall.

The harsh forest laws of William the Conqueror are responsible for the meaning of good luck now so often associated with the term windfall. Under the Norman it was a criminal offense to cut down timber in the forests; but as the peasants were allowed to gather whatever wood the wind had blown down they always hailed a storm as an omen of good luck.

Our Small Farms
in the fertile Sacramento Valley

HAVE

an immediate market for everything they can raise. Creameries will furnish you cows if you sell them your cream. Commission men will contract for your fruit and vegetables before harvested.

The supply will never equal the demand — for instance:

IN THIS CIRCLE

there are 1,000,000 mouths to feed before any fruit, vegetables or dairy products can be sent to other States or Districts.

For a half century the fertile Sacramento Valley was virtually a district of big farms and big ranches in the control of a few men.

As an example of their bigness: Hugh Glenn in one summer harvested nearly one million bushels of wheat from his farm, which is now a part of our project.

While they lived, the original owners of these farms would never entertain an offer to sell a small piece of their domain; but with the passing of these pioneers, conditions changed, and the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company was able to purchase some of the best big ranches and they are installing one of the largest and most complete irrigation systems known; are sub-dividing this great property into small farms of from 20 to 80 acres, and are offering them on special low terms.

$15 DOWN THAT'S ALL — $11 A YEAR THAT'S EASY

By making this small down payment, any man who is willing to work will win; every month in the year he can produce from this fertile soil some article of food that can be converted into immediate cash.

The market is waiting for your products. Your success depends upon your own efforts—with no limit to your possibilities.

A Sacramento Valley farmer is king of his own little kingdom. Work is a pleasure out in the open air among his trees, and vines and vegetables. There is a charm to the life; the little pigs grow into profitable pork; the poultry and the cows produce a constant stream of revenue, and the price of possession makes him realize that in acreage—

"Twenty's Plenty — Forty's a Fortune"

Mr. W. A. Yerxa, a wholesale grocer, retired from his business in Minneapolis and came to California for his health. He purchased a farm from us and began to grow things—in one year (after it matured) he made as much from his prune orchard as he ever did from his business, and he has entirely regained his health.

The telephone, transportation by river and rail, the good roads and the automobiles all bring you and your neighbors in close association with each other, and make life on one of the small farms of the a life of pleasure, profit and plenty.

If you want to be independent—if you want to give your wife and children a real home with health and happiness—and a goal of success to work for, come and be a Sacramento Valley Farmer. The land, the climate and the water are waiting for you to come and plant the seed. You have ten years to pay for your land—you can't fail if you have any ambition in you. Start the new life today by sending for printed details and literature, giving facts and full information.

AT THE STAR

"The Wife." at the Star Theatre last night was the headliner and it surely did "bring down the house." True, it's just another of those little family jars between man and wife, the former frequenting the "club" just a bit too much for the latter's liking, she plays drunk in order to break it up, and she does it, as well as every piece of furniture in the house.

Young & Milton, comedy gymnasts have a good act with the rings, but they don't fail to show some wonderful muscular development.

Fay Hough, Comedienne, was well received, being very clever in the role of semi musical reciter. Her manner is pleasing and voice good.

John Vincent, black face comedian is a "jolly good coon" in makeup and manner, his stuff being crisp, juicy, quick and original. The motion pictures are as usual, good, being the best and latest from the film makers.

This show will be on tonight and Wednesday, then on Thursday evening comes the opening of The McShaffery Summer Stock Co., in the "Golden Giant Mine." This is what everybody is waiting for and the house will be packed, curtain at 8:00 o'clock. Popular prices.

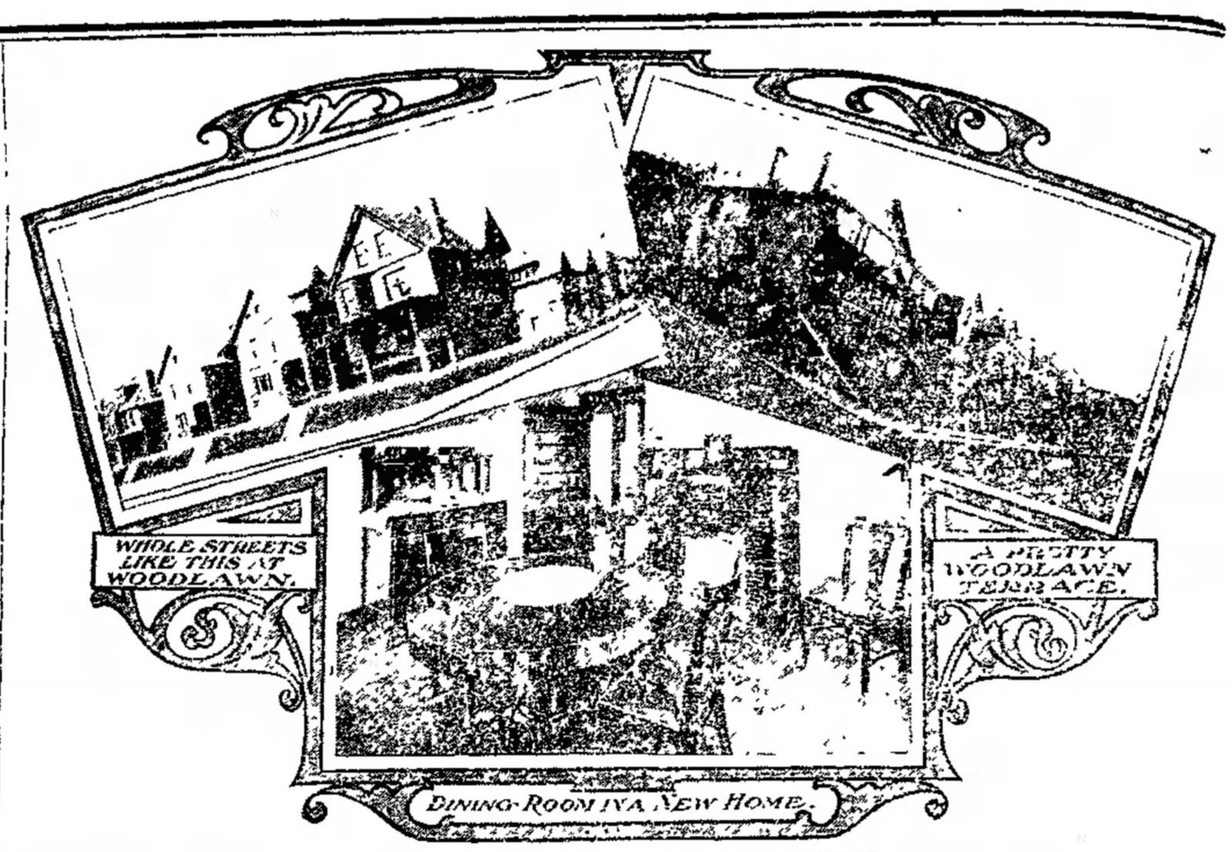
THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY



WHERE AND WHAT WOODLAWN IS

The most important real estate development of the season is the announcement by the Woodlawn Land Company that it has put on the market all the houses and lots and vacant property for residence and business purposes in the town of Woodlawn, 19 miles down the Ohio from Pittsburgh in Beaver county. Woodlawn is the new industrial city which has been built by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company for the men in its new Aliquippa department. It covers an area of several hundred acres and today has a population of more than 5,000 and in a year, so residents of the town predict, will have a population of more than 10,000 people. Many forsee a city of 30,000 people at Woodlawn within the next few years. The town has certainy started out in that direction with a rush.

Less than two years ago there was nothing but a wooded valley where the thriving city of Woodlawn now stands. Today there are more than a thousand pretty homes dotting the hills on either side of this valley, while through the valley itself runs a paved city street flanked by 30 or more substantial business blocks ranging from two to five stories in heighth. There is a pay-as-you-enter street car line, electric lights, a system of filtered artesian well water, natural gas, a paid police and volunteer fire department, several handsome church edifices, two grammar schools, and a $50,000 high school, hotels, physicians officers, dentists, druggists, grocers, and merchants of all lines, a newspaper and several clubs and lodges.

The Woodlawn Land Company has built the town complete and is now offering the houses and business sites and residence sites for sale at very low and attractive easy payment terms. It is estimated that several millons of dollars are invested in this development and that during the summer the real estate activity there will be unusual. It is anticipated that hundreds of these homes will be sold, as there are many opportunities for work in the great Jones & Laughlin furnaces, steel mills and tin and wire mills and other industries nearby.

The prices range from $2,250 for a pretty five or six-room bungalow to $4,500 for handsome 8- and 9-room brick residences, houses which would sell for $6,500 or $7,000 in any other large town in the Pittsburgh district. A beautiful new illustrated album describing this new city and its opportunities may be had free by addressing the Woodlawn Land Company, 210 Woodlawn Trust Company Building, Woodlawn, Pa.

News Notes of Society

One of the most enjoyable events ever held in the basement of the Baptist church was that of the banquet given to the women's class of the Sunday School by the men's class Saturday evening. Seventy-eight men and women sitting down to the tables a little after eight o'clock. Every one seemed to be in the best of spirits and a continual song of laughter and conversation made the bashful ones feel at home. The women especially enjoyed the supper as they were freed from all responsibility; all they had to do was to see that they were present to partake of the repast after it was spread upon the tables. After all were through eating, toasts were responded to by various members of the classes. Mrs. Daniel Harris and Mrs. A. T. Wallace responded in behalf of the women; W. L. Zollars, Arthur Winstone and George Nash for men. Harry Williams, teacher of the woman's class spoke for both. The pastor closed with a few remarks urging greater activiy in the future than ever before. The banquet was the outcome of a contest between the two classes and it fell to the lot of the men to furnish the supper. The tables were set and the delicacies furnished by Pierce Johnson, of the Star Cafe, who is one of those congenial fellows who knows how to please and it is needless to say that everything was in tip-top shape at the appointed hour. The women dispersed pronouncing the banquet and gathering a grand success but the men assert that next one shall be on the women.

Announcement was made yesterday of the engagement of Miss Emma Noyes Brady, former teacher in the local schools, and Arthur R. Miller, superintendent of the Leisenring No. 3 plant of the H. C. Frick Coke Co. The wedding will occur next month.

into the poor districts and you would find almost the same thing.

"New York has 1,200,000 hustling Hebrew boys and girls. Thousands of English, Irish, Danish and hundreds of other nationalities working hand and foot in American schools, getting good educations and singing 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee'—yes, they are American boys. So you see it is really wonderful to watch the success of men who were boys starting in humble circumstances and succeeded through perseverance and good habits.

DEPLORES CIGARET HABIT

"So you see there are lots of things that can be done to assist our boys. There is one bad thing going on now to which I would like to call your attention, and that is the inducements of cigaret manufacturers who insert pictures of ball players, pugilists and sporting men in cigaret packages to induce the boy to purchase the terrible weed which is at the present time sapping the lives of the foolish youth. We should look out for that. It is indeed very sad to see a boy with good health, inhaling nicotine. Stained fingers, bad eyes and bad nerves, he thinks, is cigarette style. I don't think anything good style that breaks in on good health.

"I wish every boy in this country would take my advice. The rungs of the ladder of success are not made of cigarettes, but made of good, strong boys of good constitution and sterling character."

OLYMPIC

The Olympic Theatre has a big program this week. "Noodles" Fagan the self-made man who rose from a Bowery newsboy was here last night and his work was so pleasing that everybody is talking about him today, and tonight that house won't hold the people. His whole life is bound up in bettering the conditions of children and adding little bright spots here and there in their young lives. A side from the main program there will be strong motion pictures as usual. Wednesday and Thursday exceptionally strong bills—1½ hours solid amusement, and the auditorium as cool as a mountain breeze. "The Circus," by the 101 Ranch Co. is something far above the ordinary, requiring 500 people and 500 animals to produce. "A Woman's Honor" is one of the powerful dramas. It depicts truthfully the truth of legal phraseology that a woman retains her honor until proven guilty. Be sure and see the famous "Noodles Fagan" tonight, as this will be his last appearance under this engagement.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Lots of pep is the slogan for the league this year and if this is followed up there is no question but what the games will be finished in plenty of time and will be enjoyed all the more by the spectators.

"I got you Steve," yelled Smith the first basemen for the M. E's. and he was on the job digging them up out of the dirt and spearing them from all four points of the compass.

Both pitchers had the opposing batters striking the air and it was comic to see some of them stretch their arms way out in an effort to connect.

Johnny Gibson must have thought he was running a marathon the way he chased around to third base on his smash to middle field.

"Ching" Lane attempted to make a catch and "pose" at the same time, the catch was no good but "Oh that pose."—Nuf-ced.

The work of the two umpires last evening was satisfactory from every viewpoint. Keep it up "Umps."

Much to the surprise of the Presby's when the game ended the score favored their opponents.

A good sized crowd was on hand last evening and every good play was greeted with a glad hand.

The Oasis.

By steadily bearing in mind that what you know and think, you know and think not for yourselves alone, but for others you may become the center of a little green spot of intelligence in the midst of this arid waste we call society.—Phillips Brooks.

Saw His Opportunity.

"I told him there were dozens of people right here in town who had never heard of him.' "I guess that took him down a peg or two.' "I guess it didn't. He started right out to find them and borrow money."—Houston Post.

In Shakespeare's Time.

Patron—"No native productions on the stage at all this year, eh?" Elizabethan Manager—"No! We'd produce English plays, but we simply can't get them! All the successes of the season have been foreign-made plots that Bill Shakespeare made over to suit our tastes!"—Puck.

Widowed on Wedding Day.

To have been bachelor, married man and widower all in the space of twelve hours was the unique but tragic experience of a young man in Belfast, Ireland, recently. Married in Christ church at noon, the bridegroom at midnight became a widower, for at that hour the bride died of an acute attack of appendicitis.

Mode of Concealment.

"I want to keep the real facts concerning this transaction a secret," said the enterprising man. "Then," replied the sage counselor, "I should immediately start a controversy concerning it. Then so many theories will be advanced that the facts will never become public."

Time Told by Shadows.

Among curious clock novelties is the shadow boudoir clock. With it there is no need of getting up to strike a light or turn on the bulb. All that is necessary is to touch a button and the time is flashed on the wall, after the same fashion that signs are flashed on the sidewalk. When the owner of the clock retires he turns a night dial to the ceiling and when he presses a bulb the electric light reflects from the dial through the lens and appears, giving the correct time in shadow on the ceiling.

Clocks Worked by Air.

Fans actuated by currents of air have from time to time been used as motors for running clocks. One, by Lepaute, is in the Louvre, Paris. Benjamin Hanks of Litchfield county, Connecticut, patented one in 1783. In a more recent patent the weight is wound up by the current of air in a chimney which is stopped by a self acting brake as the weight nears the top of its course.
